Nick brings the “perfect balance of legal services and a practical approach to resolving commercial and legal issues.” He is considered “very knowledgeable in the industry,” with one client stating that he “understands very well the issues and challenges involved.”

Chambers Global

Nick’s practice focuses on finance, private mergers and acquisitions and energy, with a particular emphasis on project finance, public-private partnerships, infrastructure development, secured lending and structured finance. His experience in numerous project finance, private M&A, public-private partnership and infrastructure transactions extends to many industries, including energy, infrastructure and mining. He also has significant expertise in syndicated lending, having acted for lenders and borrowers on syndicated domestic and multijurisdictional financing transactions.

Clients of various types – including banks, life insurance companies, infrastructure funds, investors, developers and government agencies – rely on Nick for business-minded and insightful advice. As one client says, Nick “is vastly experienced and reputable in the space, and well respected, deservedly so, by lenders and sponsors alike.” (Chambers Global 2015)
