Clients rely on Corey's skilled and creative advocacy to bring their most pressing disputes to a prompt and favourable resolution.

Corey represents clients in a wide array of complex litigation, including commercial, competition, cybersecurity, insurance, criminal, and regulatory matters. A resourceful and dedicated litigator, he has a proven track record of securing successful outcomes for clients in class action suits, mediations, and white-collar and regulatory investigations. Corey leverages his background and experience in cyber law to counsel clients on cybersecurity governance, data breach response, and data privacy, and also advises clients on insurance coverage and claims.

Before joining Davies, Corey was a litigator at the New York office of an international law firm. He previously clerked for the Honourable Justice Morris J. Fish at the Supreme Court of Canada.
