For many years, clients have relied on David's outstanding skills and expertise for their critical transactions.

David returned to Davies after seven years as chairman and CEO of the Ontario Securities Commission (OSC), where he led the organization's expansion and reorganization from a government agency to a self-funded Crown corporation.

Before his tenure at the OSC, David spent 30 years as a trusted strategic adviser to leading Canadian and international companies, focusing on mergers and acquisitions, corporate finance and reorganizations.

David has played a leadership role on national and international regulatory bodies. He chaired the Technical Committee of the International Organization of Securities Commissions and was on its Executive Committee; he was the founding chair of the Council of Governors for the Canadian Public Accountability Board, a national body that oversees the audits of Canadian publicly listed companies. He lends his expertise to numerous corporate boards and community organizations.

In recognition of his significant contributions to Canada's business community, David received the Order of Canada in 2007 and the Queen's Jubilee Medal in 2012. He was appointed Queen's Counsel in 1984.
