Nat has more than 45 years of experience providing clients with outstanding international tax expertise.

He advises clients on international tax, with a focus on cross-border mergers and acquisitions, financings, joint ventures, partnerships and business trusts. Canadian and international companies of varying sizes – across all industries – value Nat for his responsiveness and his keen awareness of the legal and business issues that matter to them. He also counsels clients on transfer pricing and other cross-border tax disputes with the Canada Revenue Agency. Individual clients consult him on international tax issues.

A prolific author and speaker, Nat has held senior leadership positions in leading industry associations, including the International Fiscal Association and the Canadian Tax Foundation. Before his law career, Nat was a partner in an accounting firm, where he specialized in tax.
