November 19, 2019

Davies Wins FinTech and AI Law Firm of the Year

We are pleased to have won “Law Firm of the Year” at the 5th Annual Canadian FinTech and AI Awards for our far-reaching impact in the fintech and AI sector over the past year.

Known for our blend of legal expertise and business savvy, our industry-leading fintech team has been instrumental in shaping legislative policy and designing first-of-their-kind business structures in the technology space. Highlights of our recent work include advising tZERO in its US$250-million offering of security tokens by way of a Simple Agreement for Future Equity; Triage Technologies Inc., an AI-powered digital health company, in various corporate and commercial matters, including financings, intellectual property licensing and customer arrangements; and Quad-Fi Inc., an AI-enabled online lender, in its initial product design, funding, terms of use, privacy policy and regulatory compliance.

Presented by the Digital Finance Institute on November 18 in Toronto, the Canadian FinTech and AI Awards brought together over 3,000 attendees from the banking, legal, finance, tech, startup and blockchain communities to celebrate achievements in Canadian innovation.