Farrah develops knowledge management initiatives to increase efficiencies and deliver outstanding client service.

Farrah supports the Corporate and Securities practice groups by identifying, gathering and developing valuable knowledge resources, maintaining and expanding our existing collections of precedents and research materials and contributing to the firm's thought leadership. She also trains lawyers, students and other legal professionals.

Prior to joining Davies, Farrah was an associate at a prominent Canadian law firm, where she focused on mergers and acquisitions, securities regulation and corporate governance.
