More About Me

Why are you interested in practising law?

I am drawn to the intellectual stimulation provided by law. Business law challenges us to solve complex problems by exploring creative solutions, an exercise that perfectly aligns with what I am looking for in terms of a career. Having grown up in an entrepreneurial setting, I quickly developed an interest in the business world. The prospect of working alongside passionate individuals and helping them bring their projects to life is precisely what inspired me to choose this field.

What common myth about Davies would you want to dispel?

That the intensity of the practice makes people unapproachable. I have found it to be the exact opposite. Everyone I have met has been available, attentive to my questions and generous in sharing their experience. To me, this reflects a culture where collective success takes precedence. A firm that invests so much in its next generation is clearly committed to its long-term future.

What fictional character do you identify most with?

The character I identify with most is Batman. What resonates with me is that he contributes to the well-being of his community without seeking recognition; he acts simply because he thinks it is the right thing to do. I try to adopt the same philosophy and act according to my convictions, rather than to please others. This is a value I have cultivated on the ice and on the playing field, where a captain who leads by example doesn't need applause to give his best.
