More About Me

What surprised you most about Davies during the interview process?

I was pleasantly surprised by the conversational aspect of Davies' interviews and by the work the lawyers had done beforehand to prepare. There were no trick questions; the interviews were just about getting to know me better.

Is there an organization that means a lot to you?

My involvement with the Mobile Legal Clinic, which offers legal support to people experiencing homelessness, is particularly close to my heart. It is important to spread awareness about the situation of homeless people in Montréal, and to make an impact any way that I can.

Why are you interested in practising law?

As a law student, I became aware of the omnipresence of law in our daily lives and in current events. A career in law will give me all the tools I need to make an impact in the market and my community.
