DAVIES

Lev Laskine
Student

Office
Montréal

Tel
514.841.6400

Lev is interested in business law because the work has real impact at scale, shaping outcomes across cities, provinces and countries.

Lev looks forward to working in an environment where learning never plateaus and new challenges arise all the time.

Education

Dawson College

Law School

Université de Montréal

More About Me

What are the essential qualities of a good lawyer?

Curiosity is at the top of my list. The most complex mandates rarely have straightforward answers, and a curious lawyer never settles for the obvious solution. They push further, ask better questions and find more creative paths forward. At a firm like Davies, where the work is consistently challenging, that drive to go beyond the standard is essential.

If you were not a lawyer, what career would you have chosen?

If I wasn't a lawyer, I would have chosen medicine. Like law, it is a career defined by real impact and meaningful relationships. There is something deeply rewarding about the idea of providing care to those who need it while building lasting connections with the people around you.

Whom do you most admire?

My parents. They have both demonstrated incredible resilience throughout their lives and have taught me the importance of being consistent. They have always stood in my corner and have always pushed me to set ambitious goals for myself.