More About Me

Why did you choose to work with Davies?

I chose Davies because of its generalist approach, lean file teams and emphasis on collegiality and long-term talent development. I am excited by the opportunity to receive substantive work early on and by how eager everyone is to ensure the long-term success of the firm's students. In addition, I was impressed by the kindness and authenticity of the people, and their shared commitment to continuous improvement and collective success.

Is there an organization that means a lot to you?

Growing up as an Asian-Canadian athlete, my involvement at Footsteps United, a not-for-profit that hosts sports tournaments to raise funds for Asian-Canadians, has been incredibly meaningful. After playing in soccer tournaments, I reached out to one of the founders (who also attended Marianopolis and McGill Law) to get more involved. I have sat on the organization's board since my second year of CEGEP. Working on the board allows me to contribute to the organization's future projects and long-term strategic planning, which has been a very fun and rewarding experience.
