DAVIES

Spencer Strasser
Student

Office
Montréal

Tel
438.817.9616

Email
sstrasser@dwpv.com

Spencer believes that clear communication and active listening are key to building the genuine and trusting relationships required for a career in law.

Spencer has always had a keen interest in how businesses are built and grown, and believes his studies in marketing and entrepreneurship provide him with a well-rounded perspective on how organizations operate.

Education

McGill University

Law School

Université de Montréal

More About Me

Is there something about you we would be surprised to learn?

I used to be a drummer in an elementary school rock band. We lasted three strong years from grades three through six and performed several times on the big stage in the gymnasium.

What fictional character do you identify most with?

Luke Skywalker from Star Wars. I admire Luke for his drive to learn, grow and become the best version of himself, all while staying true to his values. Similar to Luke and Yoda, I hope to seek out the best mentors and learn from their experience.

If you were not a lawyer, what career would you have chosen?

In another lifetime, I would have gone to culinary school, become a chef and opened my own restaurant. I view cooking as a form of art and deeply admire the precision and technique behind even the simplest of dishes. I enjoy preparing meals for others in my free time, and I can imagine how rewarding it would be to do so professionally while building and running my own business.