DAVIES

Stefan Suvajac
Student

Office
Montréal

Tel
438.817.9422

Email
ssuvajac@dwpv.com

Stefan’s studies in economics and anthropology equip him to understand large quantities of information, question assumptions and search for novel possibilities.

This background sparked Stefan’s interest in law, which presents the kind of intellectual challenges that fascinate him.

Insights

Bill C-36: Rewriting the Rules for Canadian Private Sector Privacy
Jun 23, 2026

Education

McGill University

Law School

McGill University

More About Me

What common myth about Davies would you want to dispel?

There is no single type of person hired by the firm. Many people I met had very different personalities, motivations, interests and backgrounds. However, despite being different, they all shared a deep passion for their profession and a deep commitment to excellence.

Is there a skill you would like to learn?

I have always wanted to play a musical instrument. Music can express feelings, memories and experiences that words cannot. I would love to experiment with such a powerfully expressive medium.

Whom have you learned the most from personally or professionally?

I learned the most from my parents and grandparents. They are adaptive, creative and determined, and they have an amazing ability to reconstruct, reinvent and to improvise. Moreover, they all have a capacity to encounter extraordinary difficulty without compromising their ability to give love or live with hope and joy. Their lives give me perspective and constant inspiration.